Halter

Western Halter – Mares Open

Western Halter – Geldings & Stallions Open

In all western halter classes, western attire will be required, excluding tie or brooch. Western tack is required, with no bats allowed. Equine's age are determined as of January 1st of the current year.

English Halter – Mares Open

English Halter – Geldings & Stallions Open

The exhibitor in English halter must wear a jacket or suit style coat, dress pants, or riding breeches, or jodhpurs, hunt seat or paddock boots, and a derby or soft hat or protective head gear. Men are to wear a tie and ladies are to wear a choker or tie. This class is not a breed class. It is a traditional conformation class. Equines must be exhibited in proper tack. An English halter or bridle must be used. Chains are prohibited through the mouth. Whips are optional.

Lunge Line

Open to equines 2 years of age and younger. The exhibitor will enter the arena and await the signal from the judge. When the signal is given, the exhibitor will be allowed 90 seconds to present their animal. The animals are judged 80% on movement and 20% on manners. The judge, at his/her discretion may penalize the animal for excessive bucking, running off or displaying attitudes uncomplimentary to pleasure equines such as ear pinning or tail wringing. The equine should walk a minimum of two horse lengths, jog/trot a minimum of ¼ circle and lope/canter a minimum of ¼ circle on the correct lead, in both directions. The exhibitor may begin the work in the direction of their choice.

Equipment: Animals are to be shown in a halter. The lunge line attached to the halter may not exceed 30 feet, must not contain chain, and must hang free from the halter without touching any part of the equine. It is permissible to use a lunge whip

Fitting & Showing

Fitting & Showing – In judging fitting and showing classes, judges should emphasize the exhibitor's ability to handle and show the equine and to recognize breed customs.

Tack

- Neat, clean and well-fitted tack is required.
- Tack should complement, not detract from the equine.
- Equines shown in Western fitting and showing classes are to be shown in a halter. Both leather and nylon show halters are permissible.
- Equines shown in English fitting and showing classes may be shown in either a halter or a bridle. Show halters must have a throat latch. Equines shown in double rein bridle should have the snaffle rein laid over the withers and be handled with the curb rein. If the exhibitor wishes, the snaffle rein, bit and cheek pieces may be removed from the full bridle and the horse handled only with the curb rein.
- The use of a chain end lead shank with the chain under the equine's jaw or over the equine's nose is permitted for safety reasons.

Showing the Equine

- When the class is called the exhibitor must be ready to enter the ring in a brisk, alert manner.
- Exhibitors should adhere to any instructions from the ring steward or judge.
- Showmanship must be practiced from the time the exhibitor enters the ring until they exit the ring.
- Exhibitors and equines should demonstrate the ability to work calmly and quietly in the class.
- The exhibitor should lead from the left side of the equine, holding the lead shank in the right hand about 8 to 12 inches from the halter. Smaller exhibitors may need a longer hold. Emphasis should be placed on light control of the equine with minimal pressure on the lead shank to allow the equine to hold its head naturally. A loose, flopping lead strap is objectionable.
- The equine should move readily and freely at a walk or trot (or second gait for gaited equines) with very little urging by the exhibitor. Those breeds which do not trot at halter, should be shown according to breed standards. The exhibitor should stay in position by the near side of the equine's neck, preferably halfway between the equine's head and shoulder. A well-trained equine will move rapidly at a gait and speed to equal the speed at which the exhibitor is moving.
- The equine should set up quickly and squarely on all four feet (or according to breed standards).
- The exhibitor can pass between the judge and the equine as the judge moves around the animal, but the exhibitor should avoid blocking the judge's view longer than the moment required to step between the equine and the judge. The exhibitor should step quickly and quietly.
- The equine should be trained to pose using the lead strap. Touching the equine into position is prohibited. The equine should move backward and forward freely, executing a full step or just a slight shifting of weight.
- Patterns should be executed as posted.
- Showmanship classes will be run from the gate. Patterns are posted for all of the classes. Exhibitors (one at a time) enter the ring, complete the pattern and then exit the ring. There is no line up.
